First-year undergraduate students will be required to reside on campus. Students will have a number of available housing options including:

The Student Residence Hall (SRH) is a suite-style accommodation housing four students. Some suites have four single bedrooms and others have two single bedrooms and one double bedroom. All suites include a bathroom and living area. This is available to undergraduate and graduate students.

The Conference Center (CC) is a traditional-style accommodation housing two students to a room, including a bathroom. This is available to undergraduate and graduate students.

The university will lease and operate various hotels/apartments in the Kunshan community in the coming years before residence halls on campus are built for fall 2021. These accommodations will be considered "on campus" for residency.
